

Role of the Quality Assurance Unit

2025-2026

The Quality Assurance Unit at the Faculty of Nursing, Benha University plays a central role in enhancing academic and administrative performance, ensuring the achievement of the Faculty's quality objectives, and strengthening its competitiveness and readiness for academic accreditation. The Unit's roles and responsibilities include the following:

1. Promoting a Culture of Quality

Enhancing awareness of the importance of applying quality standards and continuous evaluation mechanisms among all members of the Faculty community, including faculty members, teaching assistants, administrative staff, and students.

2. Preparing Measurement and Evaluation Tools

Designing, developing, and analyzing surveys and other evaluation tools to measure performance indicators related to educational inputs and outputs, thereby supporting data-driven decision-making.

3. Improving the Quality of Education, Research, and Community Service

Working to enhance the efficiency of the educational process, scientific research, and community service through continuous monitoring and evaluation of implementation mechanisms and achieved outcomes.

4. Preparing Implementation Plans

Developing the Unit's annual operational plan in alignment with the strategic goals of the Faculty and the University and monitoring its implementation to ensure the effectiveness of quality-related activities.

5. Preparing Reports and Improvement Plans

Preparing periodic analytical reports on the results of various evaluations and proposing continuous improvement plans to be submitted to senior management for review and informed decision-making in order to enhance academic and administrative performance.

6. Communication with Stakeholders

Establishing and strengthening channels of communication and collaboration with all stakeholder groups within the faculty, including faculty members, teaching assistants, administrative staff, and students, as well as with local health institutions, to ensure that academic programs are aligned with labor market needs in the nursing sector.

7. Developing Comprehensive Quality Policies

Preparing institutional quality policies and procedures that govern academic and administrative operations within the faculty. These policies cover areas such as improving academic performance, continuous evaluation, human resource development, and creating a stimulating educational environment that ensures excellence and sustainable quality.
